Nothing says Christmas time like homemade chocolate fudge. But sometimes we don't have time for candy thermometers or burnt chocolate. With only 2 ingredients, anyone can make this super simple chocolate fudge. You can use your choice of chocolate chips or even peanut butter chips for peanut butter fudge. Great gift for someone with a sweet tooth or Christmas party.

3 cups semisweet chocolate chips

1 can sweetened condensed milk

You can use any chocolate chips that you like. I used half bittersweet and half semi-sweet chocolate chips this time. Super chocolate-y and not too sweet. Put chocolate chips and condensed milk into a microwave proof bowl. Melt in 30 second increments. Stir after each 30 seconds.

When fully melted, pour into a greased 8x8 inch pan. Let cool in the fridge and then cut into bite-sized pieces.

Optional: add in 3/4 cups of chopped nuts, peppermint oil, or use peanut butter chips.
